CHURCHILL ANNOYS
"FIGHTING CHARLEY"Lord Beresford Grows Sarcastic Over, Britain's Naval First Lord.Pope Pius, in Good Spirits, Celebrates His Name Day.

(By Times Special Wire)

New York, March 19.—A cable to the Herald from London says:

During the debate on the navy estimates last night Lord Charles

Beresford said:

"The First Lord not in the House is most uncivil to the House and to myself, who sat in the House before he was born, and who was strong for reform on the lower when the First Lord was at but less end of a feeding bottle."

Mr. Churchill entered the House directly after the debate and said:

"I am bound to say the First Lord has broken his promises and pledges, when Mr. Churchill yawned.

Lord Charles said he was sorry if he bored the First Lord, and he could see right down his throat at the moment. Later, Lord Charles said:

"I have nothing to say about the First Lord's flying in the air, as I do not believe he will ever get any near to heaven."

SENT GREETINGS

Controller Gardner Did It
In Good Words.

To greet the members of the Winni-ting Industrial Bureau and representatives from various parts of the Dominion, who are meeting at a banquet tonight, controller Gardner, acting May-orator, has unrolled a scroll, which contains two great rolls, one black and one white, except for the black tail tips, and which that delicate shade of relwhich some people prefer to the white. "I have just taken an order for a thousand skins, and expect to have trouble in filling it before the present season closes on May 1st," he said.

Taking down a skin about a not less and two inches wide, he commented on its quality, and said,

"It's a skin, you know. The season for trapping is about over.

The animal is already beginning to change their color, and will soon be as brown

as the ground they run on—that's Nature's protection. There are thousands of skins in the country, all around

Hamilton especially in some parts, so it's not unusual, that, but and the deer they would be a nuisance. Their skins are bought to treat canines. Skunks are also brought in, but they bring a high price just now, although there are lots of them around the city. The market is the same, it is the most valuable of the skins around the world. The skins are around this part of the world, but the deer is the most valuable.

Some people laugh that the cat industry story, but when a deer's carcase is brought to the fur men, the fur men will say it is a fine animal.

It is the best animal.

"The Heir of the Dares"

Lady Dare started and looked up quickly.

"Ethel, she exclaimed. "We do not need her, surely?" Old Franks and his wife were looking on.

"I saw to all that myself long ago."

"It is some wonderful device in chrysanthemums and ivy, aunt, while she wishes to arrange in the centre," he explained. "I won't interfere with anything you do, but I hope that old Franks will be glad of your hints; she has perfect taste, and he has none."

"But there was no need," persisted Lady Dare, a frown still on her brow.

"It was, I think, rather officious of Ethel, but when our gardeners are such good ones."

"Well, Aunt Selina, you know Ethel meant it kindly. Stephen said nothing, but I was thinking about her. She would never think of offence. Ethel is a dear, unsuspicious little girl, and it would be churlish of me to refuse her offer of help."

Dame Selina said nothing, and the breakfast girls over the side table to see about some special preparations with the housekeeper, and Stephen turned out to greet Ethel in the drive. He met her in the hall, driving jacket, flourishing her whip and bringing her ponies up to the door with a flourish.

"Here I am, punctual to the minute," she cried as she sprang out. "Happy hours," Stephen said, all the time of it."

And Stephen laughed heartily, took her little ungloved hand and kissed it.

"I must speak to Aunt Selina," she said presently when the groom had taken the little carriage away. "I fear it is necessary."

She ran into the house, but no Dame Selina was visible; so, shrugging her shoulders, she returned.

"Old Franks seemed to have the fire for me before I came, so I only need the flowers. Come along, Stephen. I'll be down by the rustic summer house."

She chattered on as they turned into the more remote part of the garden, and as they did so, she noted that her companion had become suddenly silent. But it did not, and she glanced back. Her eyes met, and her ray speech was frozen upon her lips. Her merry, laughing died away as she looked at him in fear. His eyes were dead beside his head, and great drops of moisture stood on his forehead, while from his stoned eyes an awful agony, a death agony, was born.

"Oh, heavens, it is coming!" he gasped weakly. "Ethel, help me, for pity's sake!"

He reeled helplessly against her, as he spoke, and Dame Selina, who had seen Ethel, after one wild sob of horror, supported him, and, half dragging, half leading him, got him into his armchair, and then, with a groan, fell into the rustic seat, his head falling forward upon the table helplessly; his eyes turned up to the ceiling.

She tore off his scarf and collar to give him air, and as she worked frantically, sobbing and praying, she gasped, "I must cool him down for her, but she remembered the night of her tableaux vivants, and tried to get him to drink water."

In front of the summer house was a little rocky fountain whose stream trickled down a long, rocky stone, and then, with a little gush, dashed over his face and head. She bathed his hands with her handkerchief and the water of his sake!"

CHAPTER XIII.

The huge boughs of the great fireplace of the hall cracked and crackled in the dusk as Bexham, Silas, Mrs. Carter, and the maids bustled about getting the order for the evening. When Parker joined them all looked rather grave.

"It's my opinion my lady won't be able to sleep to-night," he said, remarked to the housekeeper.

"She is very poor, and she's been crying, too. I wonder what has upset her."

"Perhaps it's the remembrance of some birthday past and forgotten till now," said Parker. "I don't see her like that, but I really think you must be mistaken," he said.

37 HOURS IN RUINS

St. Louis Falling Wall Took Six Lives.

(By Times Special Wire.)

St. Louis, Mo., March 19.—He calls for a drink of water early this morning, and the sound of Thunder bursts from the roof of the Louis Seligman company's building, 37 hours after the structure collapsed under the weight of a fallen wall. The steel company's building was one of the tallest in the city, and the Missouri Athletic Club building fell on it.

The Missouri Athletic Club building, a tall, thin one, was down 10 days ago with a loss of 30 lives.

Rescuers, who had been digging in the ruins, were unable to extricate a body, when they were startled by Burke again for help.

"Give me a cup, Parker: I've just had a drink," he said cheerfully as he warmed his hands. "I suppose I shall find Sir Stephen in the library."

"No, sir: master is out riding," said the old man.

"Well, it don't matter: I shall see, lady," said Burke. He had really come to see that Stephen was all right, but the fact of the square building was sufficient to set him mind at rest.

He could not see his aunt's face when he entered her room, as it was getting to be dark and lamps were lit. She was slowly sipping her tea.

"Give me a cup, Parker: I've just had a drink," she said, when they were startled by Burke again for help.

DEBAUCHING THE LEGISLATURE.

The net result of the Government pushing a Government Bill through the Legislature in one sitting, despite the vigorous opposition of the Liberals, is that members of the Government and of the Legislature can now accept positions of emoluments from the Dominion Government as long as they can claim "special qualifications," or "professional attainments." These limitations are so wide that any member of the House could qualify for jobs. The statute particularly forbids any member from accepting such positions. When the statutes were last revised by Sir William Meredith and the Statute Revision Commission, including Judge Sides of this city, members of the Legislature were prohibited from taking money from the Dominion treasury under any pretext. The bill which was rushed through the House to save Ferguson and others guilty like him, removes this bar, and now members of the Legislature can accept jobs from the Dominion Government and thus help to increase their means of living.

The effect of this measure is to put it into the power of the Dominion Government to bribe these members by positions of profit in the Dominion Government service. It is a vicious principle and opens the door for all kinds of abuses. The Government was not satisfied, however, Mr. Ferguson, it is given him power to go on devoting a salary from the Dominion while representing his constituency in the Legislature. The action of the Government in thus overriding all precedent will not redound to its credit.

GEORGIAN BAY CANAL.

The Dominion Government will soon be called upon to decide on the building of the Georgian Bay Canal, and the deepening of the St. Lawrence River and canals to meet the demands of the new World Trade. There is a division of opinion among the people as to two projects. Montréal men favor the Georgian Bay project, as it would be of more benefit to that city than would the Welland Canal. They have behind them the support of Sir Robert Perks, who wants the contract to build the canal, and others who believe with him as to the need for a Georgian Bay Canal, as it would be of more benefit to that city than would the Welland Canal. They have behind them the support of Sir Robert

Perks, who wants the contract to build the canal, and others who believe with him as to the need for a

Georgian Bay Canal. In the paper entitled "The Montreal, Ottawa and Georgian Bay Canal," in which he said that there seemed an unanimity of public opinion in favor of the proposed waterway, not only because it was the shortest route from the Great Lakes to the St. Lawrence, but also because it would be of more benefit to that city than would the Welland Canal. They have behind them the support of Sir Robert

Perks, who wants the contract to build the canal, and others who believe with him as to the need for a

Borden, would be associated with the Georgian Bay Canal.

Sir Robert Perks is a great engineer. He has several times visited Canada, and the Georgian Bay Canal scheme, and commented on it favorably. But there are many Canadians, more conversant with the route of the canal and its difficulties who are not so enamored of the scheme as he is. Robert, the Ontario delegation which will wait on the Government shortly in the interest of the deepening of the St. Lawrence will be in touch with the Welland Canal, will upon the Government's instructions proceed with the Welland Canal scheme to wait indefinitely in this opinion. But the Government will have to make a choice, unless it is willing to go on with both undertakings at once, and that would seem a large order.

HON. WM. PATTERSON DEAD.

It was only recently that we had to record the death of a veteran in the Liberal ranks—Sir Geo. W. Ross—and now we have to record the death to announce the passing of a man who was long a prominent figure in the Liberal party. Hon. William Paterson, of Brantford, who first saw the light of day in Hamilton. Like the late Sir Geo. W. Ross, Mr. Paterson was not born with a silver spoon in his mouth. He was early left an orphan, his parents having died in the same year. He was a good student, and made his mark in the school system, but he was endowed with many of the characteristics that make it possible for a man to achieve success, and he made good use of these. For forty-two years Mr. Paterson was a member of the House of Commons, and for most of the time represented the County of Brant, to the great satisfaction of the people of that constituency. He was a good business man, and when Sir Wilfrid Laurier came into power, Mr. Paterson was his choice for Minister of Customs, a position which he occupied during the whole period Sir Wilfrid was in power. In conjunction with Sir Wm. S. Fielding, the Finance Minister, he had much to do in framing the tariff and in preparing the budget.

Mr. Paterson was closely allied with Mr. Fielding in the negotiations for the reciprocity agreement with the United States, and in 1911 went down to defeat with the Government, when he retired from public life. During the last year of his life he was the center of a great deal of scandal never touched him. He was recognized as a man of honesty and probity, and his departure was never under suspicion. Mr. Paterson was an eloquent and convincing speaker, and was a particular favorite on the hustings. He was endowed with a remarkably robust and resonant voice, and when Sir Wilfrid Laurier came into power, Mr. Paterson was his choice for Minister of Customs, a position which he occupied during the whole period Sir Wilfrid was in power. In conjunction with Sir Wm. S. Fielding, the Finance Minister, he had much to do in framing the tariff and in preparing the budget.

made an unhappy bargain with the Nationalists, men who do not want to help Britain under any circumstances, and this corrupt bargain with disloyal men landed him in his present trouble, and made a "holy show" of Canada. This has reacted upon Australasia, and Senator Miller, the Minister of Defense, has said that the whole attitude changes the whole aspect of the contribution of the dominions to imperial naval defence, and he asks for a conference so that they may know where they are at.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. Ferguson, of Grenville, can now understand how Evansfield felt.

Mr. Ferguson had to be saved at all hazards. It mattered not by what means.

Sir Charles Tupper has published his reminiscences. They should make good reading if he tells all he knows.

No doubt the temperance people can blame their defeat in Welland on License Inspector Snider. He was not there to advocate its adoption.

The Tories had a stormy caucus yesterday over the C. N. R. question. Mum's the word, but it is understood that the Government has made up its mind to grant Sir William the favor asked.

Gordon Wilson apparently has had his way in the grocery business. East Hamilton will still vote in the county. Stewart and Barker must have been asleep when Hamilton's interests should have been looked after.

The Tory press is giving the Ontario Government much credit for bringing forward a woman's compensation for accident bill. The fact of the matter is that Mr. Rovell, by his persistent prodding, compelled the Government to act. There would have been no compensation bill had the Liberals not agitated for one.

The Scottish Liberal Association has issued an annual report. On the subject of Scotch Home Rule it is declared that the establishment of the Scottish Home Rule Council has been instrumental in supplying a healthy stimulus to the movement. All over the country, it says, evidence of a deep-rooted feeling has been shown that the time is ripe for a movement to be started. The Scotch Home Rule Council has now the pledge of the Government of to-day, publicly given by a minister of the whole Cabinet, that this Government is fully alive to the fact that Scotch devolution, and will endeavor to provide for it in a measure which it will deserve.

NO DIVORCE

Senate Refuses to Release
Hamilton.

Ottawa, March 18.—For the third successive year the Senate has rejected the bill introduced by Andrew Lewis Hamilton, bank manager of Quebec, but formerly of Portage la Prairie, Man., for divorce from his wife. Three times the Divorce Committee of the Senate has found "no cause." Each time the Divorce Committee and the verdict of the Senate majority was voted. This year, with Senator Landry voting, the result was a tie vote, which, under Senate rules, means that the bill had to be referred to the Divorce Committee.

This year, although witnesses had been brought to Ottawa, and both the petitioner and respondent, who was formerly a Canadian merchant in a prominent Toronto and Ottawa family, were present, no evidence was taken, counsel for and against both agreed ing to rely upon the evidence given the year before. This was principally given in a report of the Senate, the Senate stating this, and recommending the divorce be given. In the discussion to-day several Senators of Roman Catholic faith abstained from voting. Senator Beque asked Senators of the same faith as himself to follow his lead, but failed in giving his reason, Senator Belcourt, who did not vote, said that when a Judge was prejudiced in a case it was better to let it go, and not to try it. As the Roman Catholic Church was against divorce, he said, with Senator Belcourt that Senators of that church should not vote on divorce cases.

Several Senators, however, although Pomeroy Davis held there was collusion between the counsel in bringing the case before the Senate, which had twice rejected it without any evidence, Davis said there had been too much lobbying in this Hamilton case.

The motion to adopt the report of the Committee was declared lost. DIVISION—18 to 18.

Notice of non-consideration was given by Senator Kirchherr, chairman of the Divorce Committee.

POISON AT DANCE.

Two Dead, Eight Ill, in B.C. Tragedy. Constable C. M. Rothwell has just returned to town with a squad of two veterans of the Malakwa War. It appears that he was shot in the head by a Malakwa man for whom he had been searching for a week.

The result of partake of this illicit drink at the dance were taken ill and died yesterday morning.

Charles Murphy directed at attention to the case, and the Canadian Government in reference to the Malakwa War.

He said that the report of the report were true. Mr. Murphy wanted to know when the House could look for a communication from Mr. Borden on the matter. But Mr. Borden denied it.

"The cable appeared in the Government press, and we shall ignore it," said Mr. Murphy.

It seems to be considerably in his writing, said Mr. C. A. Wilson (Liberal), amid laughter.

COCHRANE IN B.C.

"Does the Government feel that a Minister of the Crown of Canada should take part in a political demonstration?" asked Mr. Rothwell.

He said that he had been told that Mr. Frank Cochran had been invited to speak at the dance.

What has become of the historical and what is the flag of the Confederation?" asked Mr. Rothwell.

He said that when Parliament was in Committee of Supply, the Government had a flag of the Confederation.

THE NATIONAL FLAG.

"What is the opinion of the Archives?" asked Mr. Rothwell.

Mr. Rothwell said that the archivers had announced that the archivers contained the flag of 1812 and 1837.

"Order," demanded Deputy Speaker

Blondin, who was in the chair, while the Liberals laughed.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, "denounced the French-Canadian Liberal, 'that the Nationalists had a flag, the British flag bore full of holes, and that it was not fit for it to be preserved in the archives, too? Where is it in preserved? It is in Grand Falls,'" Mr. Blondin (Montreal), suggested. Mr. Deputed.

Speaker (Montreal) called him a "rascal" with a "rude" name, and shot forth the aside: "It's in Three Rivers to-day."

Political apathy, the advent of the Liberal candidate to the Government was being considered to be made in the constituency of Three Rivers. Polling took place to-day.

Home Rule Demonstration

Ottawa, March 18.—With the estimates of the Department of Mines under consideration in the House this evening, Hon. George P. Graham urged upon the Government the desirability of developing some process by which the low-grade ores of Ontario and other parts of the Dominion may be made commercially profitable. He said, "it was a great opportunity of doing great service toward the industrial development of Canada."

Hon. Louis Codere pointed out in reply that there had been no laboratories in Canada properly equipped to do this kind of work.

Mr. Codere had been born in the United States. A site had now been urchased, however, for an ore sible that we could give more aid to the industry by experimental work alone. He said, "it was a great opportunity of doing great service toward the industrial development of Canada."

Ball Park Matter Will be Settled To-day—Local Club Receives Contract From Fast Shortstop

Alerts, Limited, and Ball Club to Settle on Grounds To-day

Local Club Received Contract From Weene This Morning. --- Other Ball News.

The trouble between the Hamilton Baseball Club and the Alerts Limited in regards to Britannia Park will be settled to-day, and to-morrow morning the directors of the ball club will announce their plans for the coming season as regards to grounds. Just what settlement will be reached at this afternoon's meeting could not be learned this morning, but to-morrow the fans will know whether the ball club will play at Britannia Park or elsewhere.

The directors of the local club received a contract from Weene, the Detroit boy, whom they tried so hard to get in earlier in the season, and with the arrival of the new one it will be the Indians' all-night affair. Weene left Detroit and has been idle since the Hamilton club has been the leaders in the season, but his father was not willing to let him play on account of his studies, but recently he has consented, and this morning Weene's contract arrived. Last summer Weene took part in thirty games, and during that time he batted .462, and his fielding average was .989, which is certainly a remarkable record. He will arrive here with the rest of the players on April 15, and, according to his past performances, Hamilton will have the fastest shortstop in the game this season.

The Niagara University have asked the local club for some exhibition games, to be played during the spring training, but just whether they will be accepted or not will be learned in the near future.

The news about the settlement between the Alerts, Limited, and the Hamilton ball club will be received by the fans with great favor, for at the present time the Alerts are the leaders in the Canadian League, and where the local club will play, Britannia Park would certainly make a beautiful spot for the grounds, and when the local club get all things fixed up for the coming season, the park would be second to none in that Canadian city.

While there is no immediate likelihood of the Canadian League jumping to the Federals, according to President Fitzgerald, the green throughout the circuit expresses the opinion that such a course might be advisable should the league meet with a second rebuff in its application for Class B rating.

The National Association, apparently without making other than the most superficial inquiries, turned the Canadian League down flatly. The claim of the league to higher classification is well and cannot be denied, but the opposition to the National's application is not without prospect of success. Should the Fitzgerald circuit, the most prosperous in all Class C leagues, and the superior of others which have been mentioned, be successful in its efforts, then it is unquestionable its due, the Federal League affiliation will dominate, serious consideration by the club owners.

In the newspapers the League truly represents the owners of the circuit, and the Canadian Commission will consult its own interests by voting the totally unjust decision of the National Association.

Ottawa, March 19.—Manager Caven of the St. Thomas club made an effort to put through a trade with Ottewell. He offered Pitchers Clement and St. George, first baseman, and Dohm with 300 last year.

Ottawa failed to come up with Toronto, and Kivier, whom the Leafs recalled from Guelph. Ottawa also made a fruitless bid for Fred Herbert, who starred for them two years ago.

Battle Creek, Mich., March 19.—Garland "Chief" Nevitt, the Delaware Indian catcher, who has just been sold to St. Thomas, in the Canadian League, has been a very a successful player with the Indians in the winter in a physical education school, operated in connection with the Battle Creek健民. In this way he is enabled to begin his spring season in excellent condition.

Nevitt is 23 years old, is a full-blooded Delaware Indian, born in Oklahoma, and educated at the Haskell Indian school, where he was a close friend of Jim Thorpe, the renowned Indian player now with the New York Giants.

Nevitt's first professional engagement was with Battle Creek, where he has played for three years, being the catcher mainly during the time. He is a good player, and is considered to be one of the best catchers in the circuit at the present time.

An Indian club's claim to distinction is that he is the only vegetarian ball player under contract. Not only does he abstain from meats, but refuses coffee and all stimulants. He also foregoes tobacco—in all its forms.

Highfield Won From Appleby

Good Game of Hockey Played Yesterday Afternoon.

Yesterday afternoon the Highfield Juniors beat the Appleby team for the second time this season at the Alert's Rink, and after forty minutes of intense hockey were returned to the ice to play a game, both teams agreed to be evenly matched, and not until the ten minutes had passed did the Juniors score their first score.

The Juniors were successful in putting the ball in the net, and the Juniors, who had their fair share of the play, the Highfield team made four points to Appleby's three.

For the Juniors the game was a good one, and they were able to feed their opponents net-wives. For Appleby the game was a bad one, and they were the best game the former especially being.

The remaining Highfield points were coming from the organizers of the All-star team, who had only to play to score for their team. The line of play was as follows:

GLANFORD HAS NATURAL GAS

Supply Struck on Farm of the Dickenson's.

SUPPLY TOWNSHIP

And Work It on the Co-operative Principle.

Disatisfied with the quality of the natural gas supplied them, claiming that sulphur fumes are doing a great amount of damage to their health, some of their business interests, the residents of Glanford some weeks ago became convinced that a local supply could be obtained with the result that County Councillor J. H. Dickenson and his uncle, Ed. Dickenson, decided to bore a hole on one of the Dickenson farms and—after a splendid flow of gas was struck, although the well is but a hundred and fifty feet deep, it is intended to bore it at least five hundred feet more, and if the flow continues, other wells will be sunk and the residents of North Glanford will be given a supply of the best natural gas at cost. They will then dispense with the present supply, and all houses will be connected with a main that will be laid through the town. The decision was made by every resident desiring to have his house connected can do so at the least cost.

Councillor Dickenson was at the Court House this morning and declared that the gas struck on one of the best possible wells and that it would be unlimitted. He opined that gas could be found in nearly any part of the town, and that the Dickenson's, in contesting, he pointed out that the Blacksheath wells from where the best gas was secured were a little south of Glanford some miles away.

Mr. Dickenson further declared that it was not intended to make any money out of the gas, and that it would be sold out and a local supply to Glanford provided, those using it would assume a loss, and those not using it would not, and no one would receive profits.

At present exactly four houses in Glanford is receiving gas, and to obtain a local supply it would not be very long before the local supply would be in evidence throughout the town if a sufficient flow could be detected.

Councillor Dickenson last year asked the council to give him the power to force a private company to purify their gas before the supply was turned into the mains, but nothing was done at the time.

HAS WIFE'S MONEY

M. Cummer Has the Documents to Prove It.

The motion to set aside a mortgage given by Robert H. Cummer to his wife was not heard in chambers this morning. Cummer is the defendant in the Supreme Court action, which has been in the courts for three years, and litigation is about to commence to bring about a conclusion of Cummer's case in that a judgment against him of $2,000 can be made. Mrs. Cummer is seriously ill, and consequently the motion will not be made for a long time, but it is expected that it will be one of the important witnesses, in that Mr. Cummer claims that the mortgage was given to her for payment of money given her by her previously. Mrs. Cummer has the cheque in his possession to prove that she gave him the money.

ASNAF IN SQUARE PIANOS

Ye old firm of Helmstein & Co. Limited, and John streets, Hamilton, ask us to say to our readers that they are about to do a good deal this weekend—a number of square pianos that have been taken in exchange will be sold this weekend, and the price is really little consideration in this case. One can buy any of these pianos at a reasonable price, and in the easiest kind of terms—a very small sum down, and a small amount weekly or monthly. This special offer is good for the week-end.

PERSIAN TO LECTURE

The lecture to be delivered this evening in Chancery Hall, by Rev. E. E. Eason of Hamilton, should be well attended. He will speak on the habits and customs of the Persians. Mr. Eason, a fellow past, when he was in Knox College.
